SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

FROM THE COMMISSIONER

Welcome to the inaugural issue of the BellSouth SEC Football Handbook. Football has long been a passion for many fans in the Southeast. This handbook will go a long way in filling the appetites of the biggest SEC football fans.

Football in the Southeastern Conference has enjoyed a long history of success. The SEC has won 13 national championships and, since the inception of the SEC Championship Game in 1992, the league has won two national titles and has played in two other national championship bowl games.

In the last two seasons, the SEC has won 11 of 12 bowl games. No other conference has sent as many teams to post-season bowls as the SEC and the league has posted the best non-conference record in 14 of the last 18 seasons. The SEC has led the nation in total attendance and percentage of capacity of its stadiums every year since the statistic has been kept.

The Southeastern Conference is dedicated to continue this tradition of excellence. The popularity of football on the national, regional and local levels is at an all-time high. This exciting new publication is the result of the excitement that our student-athletes and coaches generate on the field of play as well as the intensity level of the support from our fans.

The BellSouth SEC Football Handbook gives an in-depth look at the season ahead in a four-color book that highlights the SEC and its 12 member institutions. It is a must for every SEC football fan - a book that you would not want to leave home for the stadium without. It has directions, maps, phone numbers for restaurants and hotels and information about the schools of the SEC.

We hope you enjoy this premier issue and encourage you to visit an SEC stadium this season.

Sincerely,

The Tennessean

College football in the South is more than a way of life for many people.

Some even try to take it with them to the great beyond. You can purchase caskets adorned with your loved one's favorite SEC team's colors and logo. Hard-to-get season tickets have been secretly passed down from generation to generation. For many, the game borders on religion. And in the Southeastern Conference, Saturday is the Sabbath.

When you look at the records, the SEC doesn't have to take a back seat to any conference.

Alabama has been to more post-season bowl games than any team in college football history with 48 appearances. Tennessee is tied with Southern Cal for second place, each going to 38 bowls in the past. Georgia and LSU rank in the top 10, while Arkansas, Auburn and Ole Miss are tied at 12th with 28 past bowl appearances.

SEC teams don't only have a history of playing in bowl games, they have a habit of winning. Six SEC teams went to bowl games this past season, with all but one winning. That marked the fourth time the SEC has won five bowl games. During the last two seasons, SEC teams have compiled a 10-1 post-season bowl record, including Florida's 1996 national championship victory over Florida State in the Sugar Bowl. Since 1933, when the conference was formed, SEC teams have led the nation by appearing in 284 bowl games and winning .516 percent of those games with a 140-131-2 record. No other conference has won more than 50 percent of its bowl games.

Fans show their appreciation and appetite for SEC football by packing the stadiums, even though a large majority of the games are now televised each week. The 12 SEC schools averaged 65,857 fans during last season, the highest mark ever recorded by the NCAA. Four of those teams — Florida, Kentucky, LSU and Tennessee — played to capacity crowds. Tennessee, with an expanded Neyland Stadium capacity that now stands at more than 105,000, led the nation with an average of 106,538 for the six home dates. Seven of the SEC's teams finished above the league's average attendance figure of 95.61 percent capacity. Needless to say, fans follow winning football teams. Most SEC schools don't disappoint when it comes to winning.

Despite fierce competition from within conference walls, SEC teams fare well when stacked up against other conferences. Four SEC schools — Florida, Tennessee, Auburn and Alabama — are ranked in the top 20 teams in winning percentages in the 1990s. The Gators and Vols, bitter rivals in the SEC Eastern Division, rank 3-4, trailing only Nebraska and Florida State in overall winning percentage.

Six years ago, the SEC underwent a revolutionary change as SEC commissioner Roy Kramer enlisted Arkansas and South Carolina to join the ranks. The 12-team conference was then allowed to divide into two six-team divisions and determine a champion with a 12th game, the SEC Championship Game. "If somebody were to ask me the most significant change — in addition to the SEC Championship Game — I would have to say the divisional play has had a profound impact," Kramer says. "Going into it, I was concerned that the media and fans would continue to look at it as one race like they had in the past, but it seems to have kept more people in the mix for a championship."

The game has not only produced ulcers for the coaches, but record crowds, millions of TV viewers and eventually, national champions. When the expansion was announced, critics wondered how any team could play eight conference games, a conference championship game and win a national championship. Surely, they reasoned, SEC teams would only beat each other up and have nothing left if they ever got a chance to play for a national title.

Alabama quickly disposed of that myth, going a spotless 13-0 in 1992, the first year of the new alignment. The Tide relied heavily on arguably the best defensive squad to ever play in the SEC, along with a refuse-to-lose quarterback Jay Barker.

Since then, Florida won its first national title after going the first 50 years without an SEC championship. Two other times, an SEC team has been in the Bowl Alliance National Championship Game, including this past season, when once-beaten Tennessee fell to Nebraska, who went on to earn a share of the national championship with Michigan. "All of our fans tell me that the SEC Championship Game is the biggest and most exciting game they have gone to," says Florida coach Steve Spurrier. "There is nothing like a play-off game. It's like the World Series. People who don't even like to watch baseball during the season watch the World Series, because it is for a championship. That's what the SEC Championship Game is. It's a championship that is decided that day. No one votes for it."

The SEC's heritage is filled with memorable games, marquee players and coaches who have gone on to become legends in the game. At Alabama, the late Paul "Bear" Bryant set the standard for excellence, not only for the SEC in particular, but college football in general. Bryant's first season at Alabama was 1958. He coached 25 years, including three undefeated seasons and six national championships.

Before Bryant, Gen. Robert Neyland built a national powerhouse and tradition at Tennessee in a career that spanned 21 years. His Vols won the national championship in 1951. Neyland was regarded as one of the best coaches of his era. Even today many of Neyland's maxims are widely used in the coaching profession.

Auburn tried to counter Alabama's dominance with Ralph "Shug" Jordan and later, Pat Dye, whose ground-hugging offense produced great running backs, including Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson (1985), who went on to play professional football and baseball.

In the neighboring state of Georgia, Wally Butts' era gave way to Vince Dooley's, who had played at Auburn. Dooley's Dawgs were prominent in the 1980s, with a powerful homegrown tailback Herschel Walker, who led them to a national championship in 1980 and went on to win the Heisman Trophy in 1982.

And what better way to get a true taste of SEC football than to spend a Saturday night in Baton Rouge when the Tigers' fans are in full throat. Former SEC commissioner Bernie Moore coached there 13 years, but the Bayou Bengals really got rolling under Paul Dietzel, who coached there from 1955 to 1961, his team winning the national championship in 1958 with an 11-0 record. Charlie McClendon carried on the tradition for the next 18 years, Cholly Mac taking his teams to 13 bowl games.

Ole Miss was at its zenith under the legendary Johnny Vaught, who coached the Johnny Rebs from 1947 to 1970. Vaught coached Archie Manning, who was the second player picked in the 1971 NFL draft.

Florida turned to its most highly decorated player and Spurrier has emerged as perhaps the premier offensive mind in the game today. The former NFL quarterback has a knack for putting points on the scoreboard and is clearly running the show from the sidelines. Although Florida was never able to win an SEC title before Spurrier returned to his alma mater, the Gators have virtually taken a stranglehold on the rest of the league. Spurrier's offenses have piled up points almost from his arrival and his sometimes heated confrontations with his quarterbacks keep things lively in Gainesville. Unlike Bryant, who never bragged about Alabama's clear dominance, Spurrier openly discusses his teams and thinks with all the advantages at his disposal, that the Gators should be in the hunt for SEC and national championships almost every year. While opposing fans have grown to abhor Spurrier and his trademark visor, there is no disputing his record. He has put the Gators on the map and they seem poised to stay on top for the foreseeable future.

"There is nothing like a playoff game. It's like the World Series..."

Vanderbilt, the smallest and only private school in the SEC, has struggled in recent years. Most of its football glory came before the SEC was formed, under the tutelage of Dan McGugin, who coached there 30 years. Still, Vanderbilt has had its share of players who have gone on to bright NFL careers. Bill Wade quarterbacked the Chicago Bears to an NFL championship and offensive lineman Will Wolford is an all-pro lineman who has played since 1986.

Kentucky and Mississippi State have had brief moments of glory, but find the SEC powers are hesitant to give up precious ground to lesser teams. Arkansas, which fielded national powers in the now-defunct Southwest Conference, has struggled to compete in its new environs. So has South Carolina, whose rabid fan base gives the Gamecocks one of the great home field advantages in the league. If the talent level can begin to match the decibel level in Columbia, you will know the 'Cocks have come to roost.

Great players make great coaches. The SEC has had its share of college football's most outstanding football players over the years.

Most recently, 10 of the 30 first-round picks in the 1998 NFL draft were from SEC teams. Included was the No. 1 overall selection and Heisman Trophy runner-up Peyton Manning of Tennessee. Manning's father, Archie, had been the No. 2 pick in the 1971 NFL draft by New Orleans and spent most of his career with the Saints after a legendary college career at Ole Miss. The Mannings became the SEC's first father-son combination to win the Nashville Banner's SEC Player of the Year Award, voted on by the league's coaches.

Numerous great players cut their teeth on SEC football. Heisman winners include Georgia halfback Frank Sinkwich, who won in 1942. Who can forget LSU's exciting halfback, Billy Cannon, whose Halloween night 89-yard punt return beat rival Ole Miss, 7-3. Cannon won the Heisman in 1959. Florida quarterback Spurrier was the next Heisman winner, taking college football's highest honor in 1966. Auburn quarterback Pat Sullivan was next in 1971, followed by Walker in 1982. Bo Jackson was the last SEC player to win the Heisman, until Florida's Danny Wuerffel capped a record-breaking career by winning the Heisman and national championship in 1996.

When you look at the past, it's easy to see why so many fans follow SEC football with a fervor seldom seen in other conferences. And, why so many will follow it into the future, which only promises more of the same.

By TONY BARNHART

The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

Looking back on the success of SEC football in 1997, it's tempting to say that the 1998 season will be hard-pressed to match it. Consider:

◆ Five SEC teams (Tennessee, Florida, Auburn, Georgia, LSU) finished in the Top 13. Mississippi's No. 22 finish gave the SEC a total of six ranked teams. At some point during the season as many as eight SEC teams were ranked.

◆ The SEC finished 5-1 in bowl games, the only loss by Tennessee to national champion Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

◆ For the second time in its history, the SEC had four teams (Tennessee, Florida, Georgia, Auburn) with 10 or more victories.

◆ On NFL Draft Day, 10 of the first 30 players chosen, including No. 1 pick Peyton Manning of Tennessee, were from the SEC.

But, if you've watched SEC football for any length of time, you had to learn this: Just when you think it can't get any better, it usually does.

Yes, the SEC lost a ton of talent from the 1997 season names like Manning, Taylor, Spikes, Edwards, Avery, Green, and Ward. But friends, look what the conference has coming back to dazzle us this fall:

◆ Even with all that talent leaving, the average SEC team returns 6.9 starters on offense and 6.0 on defense.

◆ Runners like LSU's Kevin Faulk (127.1 ypg), who passed on the NFL Draft and is back for his senior season, and Tennessee's Jamal Lewis, who had 1,364 yards as a true freshman.

◆ Passers like Kentucky's Tim Couch, who lit up the league as a sophomore with 3,884 yards and 36 touchdowns. Couch was second nationally in total offense last season (341.73 ypg).

◆ Receivers like Kentucky's Craig Yeast, whose 73 catches was second in the SEC, and Auburn's Karsten Bailey, who averaged 15.9 yards each time he touched the ball.

And the list goes on because of another universal truth about SEC football: For every great player who leaves the conference, there is always another one waiting for his chance in the spotlight. Here are the players and teams who will get that opportunity to make SEC history in 1998.

EASTERN DIVISION

FLORIDA

This is how life has changed in Gator Land since Steve Spurrier became the head ball coach. In 1997 Florida posted a 10-2 record, the fifth straight year with 10 or more wins. The Gators finished in the Top 10 for the seventh straight season. They knocked off No. 1 Florida State at home, which essentially cost their state rival a national championship.

"It was a good year but not a great year," said Spurrier, echoing the mantra of Gators everywhere.

After four straight SEC championships, Florida came up just a little short in 1997. The Gators don't figure to make the same mistake in 1998.

Offensively, Spurrier must settle on a quarterback. Neither junior Doug Johnson nor sophomore Jesse Palmer earned Spurrier's blessing after the spring. Johnson had shoulder surgery after the spring. Palmer was in Gainesville working out. That's important.

The Gators must also find a big-time receiver to replace the departed Jacquiez Green. They have a lot of good ones, but not a difference-maker.

The offensive line is the deepest in the SEC.

Defensively, Florida has the best front seven in the SEC and perhaps the nation. Nobody has a better pair of tackles than Reggie McGrew and Ed Chester. Some juggling in the spring will get the Gators best three linebackers Johnny Rutledge, Mike Peterson, and Jevon Kearse all on the field at the same time. Scary. Very scary.

The concern is the schedule, which includes trips to Tennessee and Florida State.

TENNESSEE

Contrary to popular opinion, Volunteer coach Phillip Fulmer did not spend this summer worrying about life after Peyton Manning. That's because the Tennessee offense is going to be just fine in the hands of junior Tee Martin, whose running ability adds another dimension to the attack.

Besides, Martin won't be asked to carry the load, a la Manning, because the Vols have sophomore running back Jamal Lewis, the SEC's leading rusher from a year ago (1,364 yards, 5.9 avg.), and yet another very strong offensive line.

The Vols aren't giving up on the pass because they have too many weapons like Peerless Price (48 catches, 698 yards). But they will try a little more smash mouth now that Peyton is gone.

"I just see us running the football more," said Fulmer. "We've toyed with the option and that should be a plus for us."

No, the real concern on Rocky Top is a defense that lost some big-time talent in LB Leonard Little, DE Jonathon Brown, DB Terry Fair, and SS Tori Noel.

Five defensive linemen who would have competed for jobs did not practice in the spring due to injuries and other problems. One, Shaun Ellis, has a hip injury due to an automobile accident and his status for this fall is uncertain.

There are plenty of athletes at linebacker as Al Wilson moves to the inside and will become a star. JUCO transfer Roger Alexander can play end or linebacker and will make some noise. Three starters are gone in the secondary but that creates an opportunity for future starts like sophomore Deon Grant.

The schedule is a little intimidating with Syracuse, Florida, Auburn, Georgia, and Alabama in the first six weeks of the season.

GEORGIA

The Bulldogs turned a huge corner in 1997, Jim Donnan's second season in Athens. They won 10 games for the first time since 1992, beat Florida for the first time since 1989, and finished in the Top 10.

Now inquiring minds want to know: Will Georgia, which lost 11 senior starters, now have to take a step back and rebuild? If the Bulldogs can find a productive quarterback, probably not.

Mike Bobo left Georgia as its No. 2 all-time passer (behind Eric Zeier) and who will replace him is anybody's guess. Only junior Jon England and sophomore Mike Ustry have any game experience. Redshirt freshman Daniel Cobb continues to be plagued by a circulation problem in his right shoulder. The X-factor is Quincy Carter, a Parade All-America two years ago who has not played football in that time due to pro baseball.

Get a QB, and find a way to replace the production of RB Robert Edwards and Mr. Everything Hines Ward, and the Bulldogs should be okay. They are deep in the offensive line, with All-America tackle Matt Stinchcomb, and outstanding at tight end with Larry Brown.

Defensively, the problem is at linebacker, where Greg Bright and Brandon Tolbert must be replaced after combining for 75 starts the past four seasons. Junior Orantes Grant could be an All-SEC player but some others must step forward.

The secondary will be fine thanks to the return of CB Champ Bailey, who will make some All-America teams. Ten lettermen return on the defensive line and all can play. If there is an Achilles Heel at Georgia it is at placekicker where Hap Hines must bounce back after an uneven sophomore year.

KENTUCKY

Offensively, Kentucky's best hopes were realized in Hal Mumme's first season. With Tim Couch running the show, the Wildcats had the SEC's No. 2 offense (474.0 ypg) while averaging 31.64 points per game.

Unfortunately, Mumme's worst fears on defense also came true. The Wildcats were 95th out of 112 Division I-A teams in scoring defense (32.9 ppg).

So Mumme and company went to work in the off season. The Wildcats signed 19 defensive players last February including Parade All-America Dennis Johnson, who has a chance to come in and make an immediate impact at outside linebacker.

The goal was to get faster and that has been accomplished. A year ago, the starting 11 averaged 4.75 in the 40-yard dash. This group is at 4.57.

"We're just a lot quicker," said Mumme, whose first team in Kentucky went 5-6, "We'll close to the ball a lot faster."

Whether that translates into slowing down the opposition remains to be seen. There is talent, like LB Jeff Snedegar (97 tackles), who moves inside and FS Willie Gray, a freshman All-America. But the 'Cats are dangerously thin.

With nine starters back on offense, including Couch and four of five linemen, the Wildcats will continue to move the ball well. As a junior, Couch must now improve his mental approach to the game. He had 19 interceptions a year ago in 363 passing attempts. That number needs to come down.

Also, look for Kentucky to try and throw the deep ball a little more often.

SOUTH CAROLINA

Expectations were high in 1997, Brad Scott's fourth year as the Gamecocks' head coach. Not a whole lot went right.

The offensive staff struggled to get on the same page and South Carolina's play showed it. At 5-3, there was still a chance for a decent record but then quarterback Anthony Wright broke his leg in the ninth game against Tennessee and South Carolina finished 5-6.

Changes had to be made. Scott hired a new offensive coordinator in Chuck Reedy plus former Alabama assistant Woody McCorvey. Scott has also had a change of heart in offensive philosophy, as he will abandon the fast break passing attack in favor of a more conventional power running game.

It should work. The Gamecocks have two good running backs in Troy Hambrick and Boo Williams and a pair of very good full-backs in Jacob Bush and Steve Mixon. They must find some help on the offensive line for OT Jamar Nesbit, an All-SEC performer.

Defensively, South Carolina was never the same after losing OLB Darren Hambrick in the first game. The Gamecocks finished 10th in the SEC in scoring defense (24.82) and gave up 5.53 yards per play, 11th in the SEC.

South Carolina should be better if the Gamecocks can improve up front. DEs John Abraham and Matt Marsters are pretty good as is DT Cecil Caldwell. But depth is a real problem. At times, South Carolina's front wall got pushed around. The Gamecocks cannot let that happen again.

There is a chance for a good start as South Carolina plays its first four games at home.

VANDERBILT

With a defense that finished first in the SEC (275.09 ypg), the Commodores scared just about everybody last season. But they beat nobody in the conference because of an offense ranked No. 109 (of 112) nationally in scoring (12.5 ppg).

So Coach Woody Widenhofer dipped into his vast array of NFL contacts to hire Steve Crosby, a former offensive coordinator with the Cleveland Browns with 21 years of pro experience. Crosby spent the spring installing a one-back offense to give the Commodores a better chance of moving the ball.

Problem is, Vandy does not have a quarterback on scholarship that has played in a varsity game. They hope junior Hi Lewis will eventually be a Vanderbilt version of Michigan's Brian Griese. He has a proven receiver in Todd Yoder and a decent offensive line. There were enough backs in camp to move sophomore Jimmy Williams, the team's leading rusher a year ago (527 yards) to cornerback.

Despite the loss of six starters, including all three linebackers, the Commodore defense will again be good. CB Fred Vinson played in the shadows of LB Jamie Duncan and CB Corey Chavous but this year will emerge as the star of that unit.

Another star will be born at Vandy this season in redshirt freshman Jamie Winborn, who takes over at MLB for Duncan and is blessed with both size and speed.

The question mark on defense is at end, where there is virtually no experience.

The schedule maker did Vanderbilt no favors as four of the first six games are on the road.

WESTERN DIVISION

LSU

The expectations for the 1997 Tigers were great and when they upset

No. 1 Florida 28-21 on

Oct. 11, optimism in the Bayou went off the charts. But LSU's players learned an important lesson last season: If you aspire to play at the championship level, you must learn how to handle both adversity and success.

LSU did not handle the latter particularly well for after knocking off Florida, the Tigers fell to Ole Miss at home 36-21. That loss would keep them out of the SEC championship game and put a damper on an otherwise decent 9-3 season.

With 17 starters returning, including running backs Kevin Faulk and Cecil Collins, LSU is again expected to win the Western Division. Coach Gerry DiNardo hopes the pain of unrealized dreams remains fresh in the minds of his players come fall.

Offensively, the numbers say it all. LSU returns 99.8 percent of its rushing yards, 93.3 percent of its passing yards, and 89.7 percent of its receiving yards. Faulk (1,144 yards, 15 TD) passed up the NFL to play his senior season. Collins was headed to an All-SEC season with 596 yards on 72 carries (8.3 avg) when he injured a knee in the fifth game against Vanderbilt.

If quarterback Herb Tyler can give LSU a consistent passing threat, thus keeping opposing defenses honest, the Tigers will have the most productive offense in the Western Division.

Former Illinois head coach Lou Tepper takes over as defensive coordinator and brings a new 3-4 scheme he believes will make the Tigers more aggressive. The formation requires a strong noseguard and LSU has one of the best in Anthony McFarland, who is poised to have an All-SEC season.

The Tigers are solid at linebacker with the return of Joe Wesley (105 tackles). The secondary will be even better if CB Chris Cummings recovers from knee ligament damage and FS Mark Roman bounces back from a disappointing sophomore season.

With five of the first seven games in Baton Rouge, there is a chance for a great start. But the two road trips in that stretch are to Auburn and Florida. The Tigers will have to win one of those to capture their first Western Division title.

AUBURN

With the departure of quarterback Dameyune Craig, whose throwing, running and general pizzazz dominated the Auburn offense, coach Terry Bowden decided to get back to basics.

It just makes sense. The Tigers have 15 scholarship players coming back on the offensive line and some running backs (Demontray Carter, Rusty Williams) who only need a little consistency to be good.

Sophomore Ben Leard was the backup to Craig but threw only two passes all season. Bowden hopes to have the luxury of bringing Leard along slowly. To do that, the Tigers must have a strong defense and running game.

"We will have to be patient on offense and try to win with great field position and defense," said Bowden.

This is a radical departure from Bowden teams of the past but it just may work. That's because the Tigers return eight starters on defense in this, the third season for coordinator Bill Oliver. The unit must overcome the loss of LB Takeo Spikes and SS Martavius Houston, but there is enough talent on hand. DE Jimmy Brumbaugh, one of the SEC's great warriors, will anchor the unit.

Auburn has six defensive backs who have played significant minutes, but the secondary suffered a setback when CB Rodney Crayton, who sat out all of last season with a knee injury, hurt the knee again in the spring.

It was not the best of off seasons at Auburn as WR Robert Bailey and Houston were dismissed for violating team rules. Still there is optimism if the running game and the defense come through.

The schedule is not kind as it includes Virginia, LSU, Tennessee, and Florida in the first six weeks.

OLE MISS

When Tommy Tuberville took over the Ole Miss program in 1995, all he asked for was patience.

® If the Ole Miss family could just weather the hard times brought on by NCAA scholarship restrictions, he said, everyone would be happy down the road.

Last season Tuberville made an early delivery on his promise. He took his third Mississippi team to a bowl game and the Rebels won eight games for the first time since 1992. The Rebels competed in every single game and earned the reputation as one of the most well-coached teams in the SEC.

With 13 starters returning, Ole Miss can be good enough to go to another bowl and make some noise in the SEC West. But there are questions.

◆ Can the highly-touted Romaro Miller replace the effective Stewart Patridge at quarterback?

Tuberville wanted to get Miller on the field more last year but never got the chance. Miller threw only 11 passes, completing five. Miller is an outstanding athlete who can make plays, but now he must learn to lead a team against an SEC-caliber defense.

◆ Can a back be found to replace the production of the great John Avery?

Avery became one of the most feared weapons in the SEC last season and went on to become a first-round pick of the Miami Dolphins. Deuce McAllister averaged 4.3 yards a carry as a backup and there is the promise of freshman Joe Gunn, a highly recruited player from Amory, Miss., who sat out last season as a redshirt.

◆ Can the Rebels replace three great linebackers in Walker Jones, Broc Kreitz, and Nate Wayne?

Those three linebackers combined for 259 tackles last season but there is some very good talent waiting in the wings. Junior Armegis Spearman had 43 tackles as a backup and will emerge as one of the best in the SEC. Al Rice was also a strong backup waiting for his chance.

Those close to the Ole Miss program feel they are still a year away from making a serious run at the SEC West. They may be right, but the schedule is more favorable as Tennessee goes off and South Carolina comes on. The Rebels also get Auburn, LSU and Mississippi State at home.

ARKANSAS

Houston Nutt brings a lot to the table as he takes over as head coach of the Razorbacks.

The former ball boy at Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium brings an overpowering enthusiasm to the job he called "the only one I've ever wanted". The Razorback coaching staff's average age under Danny Ford was 48. That age is now 35 and with it comes a new level of energy in Fayetteville.

Whether or not all this energy will translate into an improvement on last season's 4-7 record remains to be seen. Arkansas, after all, had the SEC's worst offense (273.0 ypg) a year ago and 10 starters return from that unit. Still there are some positive signs:

◆ Junior quarterback Clint Stoerner returns after setting a school record with 2,347 yards passing.

◆ Running back Madre Hill, who ran for a school-record 1,387 yards in 1995, is finally full speed after two years of battling knee injuries. Chyrs Chukwuma, who ran for 590 yards as a freshman, is back after missing seven games as a sophomore with injuries.

◆ Three fifth-year seniors and a junior will start on the offensive line.

Bottom line? Arkansas, said Nutt, WILL run the ball better than a year ago, when it ranked dead last in Division I with 56.5 yards per game.

Defensively, there were a lot of shakeups in the spring as coordinators Keith Burns and Bobby Allen installed a 4-4-3 look which the Razorbacks have not used since the Frank Broyles era.

The idea, said Nutt, is to give the impression that the Hogs are going to bring pressure on every play. Nutt wants more than the 24 turnovers forced by the Razorback defense a year ago. It's for sure he wants Arkansas to commit fewer than its 32 turnovers of a year ago.

The first four games are all in the state of Arkansas and all are winable. The Hogs also host Ole Miss and LSU. Nutt will be the first to admit that Ford did not leave the cupboard bare in Fayetteville. Now he and his staff must take advantage of it.

MISSISSIPPI STATE

After nine weeks last season, Mississippi State had beaten the odds and stood 7-2. Win one of its last two and Ole Miss, and the Bulldogs would lock up a bowl. Win them both and they capture the Western Division and a trip to Atlanta.

® games against Arkansas

Jackie Sherrill's team lost both games, 17-7 to Arkansas and 15-14 to Ole Miss, putting a disappointing finish on what could have been a magical season.

But do not weep for the Bulldogs, said Sherrill, because they could pull a few more surprises this season.

One thing's for sure. Mississippi State will be able to run the football. TB James Johnson returns after finishing fourth in the SEC in rushing (1,069 yards). As always, Mississippi State will have a big strong offensive line.

The question comes at quarterback, where starter Matt Wyatt returns after an uneven sophomore season when he threw 15 interceptions and completed only 45.6 percent of his passes. With a weapon like WR Kevin Prentiss (19.8 yards per catch) on hand, Mississippi State must get more production out of its passing game to be truly effective. Wyatt does not have the job locked up going into the fall.

With seven starters gone on defense, including big-timers like DE Greg Favors and DB Izell McGill, coordinator Joe Lee Dunn should be fretting. In fact, he's excited because there are 26 returning letterman who have played in his system.

"We have a chance to be really good," said Dunn.

This unit may not take as many chances as Dunn's defenses of the past, but it is no less athletic. LB Barrin Simpson had 104 tackles and 18 quarterback pressures last season. He is typical of a unit that won't be as big as a year ago, but will be able to run faster.

The Bulldogs get Auburn, Alabama, and Arkansas at home and will have tough road trips at LSU, Kentucky, and Ole Miss. But if Mississippi State can complete a few more passes and find some defensive linemen to hold the fort, it could get back into a bowl for the first time since 1994.

ALABAMA

Mike DuBose concedes he made a lot of mistakes in his first year as head coach of the Alabama Crimson Tide. His biggest error was not trusting his own instincts.

DuBose wanted to change Alabama's offense in his first season by bringing its passing game into the 20th century. But the offense struggled early and, predictably, the second-guessing began.

"Instead of pressing on, we went back to what was comfortable," said DuBose.

Alabama finished 4-7, including four straight losses to end the season. DuBose promises he will not make that mistake again.

He shook up his coaching staff, moving Neil Callway to offensive coordinator. DuBose also hired Charlie Stubbs, a BYU grad and offensive coordinator at UNLV, as his quarterbacks coach/passing game coordinator. He gave them carte blanc to put together the offense he wanted. Thus, said DuBose, a signal was sent.

"We are committed to throwing the football," said DuBose. "We may not have all the pieces we need to run this offense right now. But we're going to run it anyway."

The rationale is simple, really. Alabama wants to recruit the same caliber of athlete that Florida and Tennessee uses to pitch and catch the football. The Tide will never sign that type of athlete unless they are totally convinced Alabama is committed to the passing game.

But while Alabama looks to the future, it must first take care of the present where there are some significant holes to fill on offense.

Stubbs gets high marks for developing young quarterbacks and he'll earn his money working with J.D. Phillips and Andrew Zow. Phillips attempted only three passes last season and Zow didn't play at all as a freshman. There will be pressure to play true freshman Tyler Watts but that seems unlikely.

Only two starters are back on the offensive line and the players who do return must learn more about pass blocking than they ever imagined.

WR Michael Vaughn injured an elbow in the spring after sitting out all of last season with a back injury. If he comes back, Vaughn will team with Calvin Hall and Quincy Jackson to give the Tide a pretty decent receiving corps.

DuBose shook things up on defense as well, bringing in a couple of new assistants to re-energize a unit that really struggled in 1997, finishing an un-Alabama like 11th (364.36 ypg) in the SEC.

There is plenty of talent there in DE Chris Hood and CB Fernando Bryant.

"I think we're going to be pretty good on defense," said DuBose. "I like what I see over there."

In years past when the Tide has been good on defense, they've scaled back the offense. This will not happen in 1998, according to DuBose.

And if Alabama sticks with this offense, no matter what, it may lose some games it could have won by playing it close to the vest. Those losses must be considered a down payment on the future. The question is, will Alabama's faithful be patient enough to let DuBose and his staff get to that future?

The Southeastern Conference has a history of All-Americas and outstanding player awards. Last year, nine different SEC players earned first-team All-America honors among the major publications and one player - Tennessee's Peyton Manning - won the Maxwell Award, given to the nation's outstanding player.

LSU offensive lineman Alan Faneca, Florida wide receiver Jacquez Green, Florida defensive back Fred Weary, LSU punter Chad Kessler, Auburn linebacker Takeo Spikes and Vanderbilt linebacker Jamie Duncan earned first-team All-America honors last season and none of them will be wearing their school colors this season. Only Georgia's Matt Stinchcomb and Ole Miss' Rufus French return carrying first-team All-America honors.

Again, in 1998, the SEC has an array of outstanding players who could reap post-season honors.

High on everyone's list will be Kentucky quarterback Tim Couch. The junior finished 9th in Heisman Trophy balloting last season and was also a finalist for the Davey O'Brien Award. He broke or tied 17 school and 10 SEC records last season, after completing 363 of 547 passes for 3,884 yards and 37 touchdowns.

Other outstanding quarterbacks in 1998 include South Carolina's Anthony Wright and Arkansas' Clint Stoerner.

Another Heisman Trophy candidate will be LSU tailback Kevin Faulk. By saying "no" to the NFL for another season, the senior has a chance to become a three-time first-team All-SEC selection. In his career, the senior has rushed for 3,278 yards and 34 touchdowns. Also an outstanding return specialist, Faulk needs 1,026 all-purpose yards to break the SEC career mark.

Tennessee's Jamal Lewis, who was the national offensive freshman of the year last season, Florida's Terry Jackson and Miss. State's James Johnson are among the top running backs in the SEC this season.

Georgia offensive lineman Matt Stinchcomb was a first-team All-America by the American Football Coaches Association last season. He was a main reason the Bulldogs finished third in the SEC in total offense. Not only an outstanding football player, Stinchcomb is a fine student - earning first-team CoSIDA-GTE Academic All-America accolades.

Arkansas' Brandon Burlsworth, LSU's Todd McClure and South Carolina's Jamar Nesbit were all first-team All-SEC players last season and return in 1998.

As a freshman last season, South Carolina wide receiver Jermale Kelly made everyone stand up and take notice. He led the Gamecocks with 43 catches for 618 yards and 10 touchdowns, while earning first-team Freshman All-America honors.

Kentucky's Craig Yeast is the SEC's leading returning receiver with 73 grabs last season and joins Tennessee's Peerless Price, Auburn's Karsten Bailey and Alabama's Michael Vaughn, who missed all of last season with an injury, among the league's top receivers.

On the defense, Florida may have the top linebacker duo in the nation in Jevon Kearse and Johnny Rutledge. Kearse, a junior, was a first-team All-SEC pick last season with 47 total tackles, 12.5 behind the line. Rutledge, a senior, was one of 10 semifinalists for the Butkus Award last season, and finished with 67 stops for a Gator defense that led the SEC in rushing and pass efficiency defense.

Tennessee linebacker Al Wilson was a first-team All-SEC pick in several polls last season as well.

Alabama's Chris Hood and Auburn's Jimmy Brumbaugh, fierce rivals during the season, return on the defensive front as the only 1997 All-SEC first-team picks.

Hood played injured most of last season and still had 45 total tackles, with 14.5 behind the line.

Brumbaugh was credited with 78 tackles, including 9 behind the line, last season in 10 games, missing two because of injury.

Florida's Ed Chester and Arkansas's Melvin Bradley were second-team All-SEC defensive line-men in 1997 and will look to make the league's first unit this season.

In a league like the SEC, where passing yardage records are broken almost every game, the defensive secondary becomes one of the most important positions on the field.

Georgia's Champ Bailey and South Carolina's Arturo Freeman are the only returning first-team All-SEC players this season. Bailey started every game for the Bulldogs at cornerback, leading the squad in pass deflections (10) and tying for second with three interceptions.

He is also an offensive threat, having caught 12 passes for 234 yards last season.

Freeman tied for the Gamecock lead in tackles last season with 92 and also had a team-best six interceptions and six pass deflections.

The Vanderbilt duo of Rahim Batten and Fred Vinson will look to keep the 'Dores as the toughest unit in the league to gain yardage against.

On special teams, Tennessee's Jeff Hall and Miss. State's Brian Hazelwood are two of the finest kickers in the country. Hazelwood's 53-yard field goal against Memphis was a game-winner for the Bulldogs and the longest field goal of the season in the SEC. Hall led the SEC in scoring with 95 points, including 16 field goals.

Miss. State punter Jeff Walker was second in the SEC in punting, averaging 45.5 yards per boot. That was good enough to finish seventh in the country.

RAHIM BATTEN - FS

5-8, 196, Sr., Detroit, Mich. Started 11 games in 1997 for unit that ranked 9th in the nation in total defense; Fifth on team in tackles last year with 55 (34 solos) and was second in interceptions with three; Has 16 career starts.

1997 Coaches All-SEC Team

Southeastern Conference champion Tennessee paced all conference teams with eight football players earning spots on the 1997 Coaches All-SEC Team, announced today by the league office. Three of the eight Vols made the first unit. League runners-up Auburn had seven total selections while Florida and LSU each had six picks on the squad.

The only first-team repeat selections from the 1996 Coaches All-SEC squad were LSU offensive lineman Alan Faneca, LSU running back Kevin Faulk, Auburn placekicker Jaret Holmes, Vanderbilt inside linebacker Jamie Duncan, Auburn inside linebacker Takeo Spikes, Florida defensive back Fred Weary and Tennessee defensive back Terry Fair. Tennessee quarterback Peyton Manning also earned first-team honors in 1995.

Faneca, Weary and Georgia offensive lineman Matt Stinchcomb were the only unanimous selections.

Coaches were not permitted to vote for their own players, thus a unanimous selection earns 11 of 12 first-team votes.

Successful On & Off the Field

By RAY MELICK

Birmingham Post-Herald

On the day before his fifth training camp with the Pittsburgh Steelers was to begin, Greg Carr informed the NFL that he'd had enough.

"They weren't very happy with my decision," said Carr, a former All-Southeastern Conference and All-America linebacker at Auburn. "The front office tried to talk me out of it. A lot of my friends at Pittsburgh didn't understand what I was doing. I still had a place on the Steelers, and I feel like I still had something to offer them.

"But it was time to move on. I'd committed to go to medical school. I could have played a few more years, but that would have been a few years later to start medical school, and I didn't want to wait any longer."

It sounds like an unusual story in a world where athletes and athletics are often held up as the pinnacle of success. But in reality, what Carr was doing was joining a long line of former SEC football players whose interest stretched beyond the 100-yard boundaries of the playing field. Players who found time not only to excel in football but also in the classroom, earning not just All-America honors on the field, but Academic All-America honors, too.

It began with Harold Easterwood, an offensive center at Mississippi State in 1954, and carried on through last year, when Tennessee quarterback Peyton Manning was as honored for his school work as for his play. Along the way, the SEC's list of Academic All-Americans rivals the list of football honorees: Robert Khayatt of Ole Miss; Fran Tarkenton of Georgia; Lance Alworth of Arkansas; Bob Johnson of Tennessee; Bill Stanfill of Georgia; Carlos Alvarez of Florida; Johnny Musso of Alabama; Jim Kovach of Kentucky; Cris Collinsworth of Florida; Danny Wuerffel of Florida — a list that doesn't even begin to name them all.

"In reality, a guy who is a talented athlete is usually pretty talented, period, and can actually do a lot of things," said Dr. Tom Lyons, who played for the University of Georgia from 1968-70, then with the Denver Broncos until 1978 and is now director of the Center for Women's Care and Reproductive Surgery in Atlanta.

"He may need to tune up his skills, but a lot of athletes go on to law school or get an MBA or become doctors or whatever else. A lot of them go on to become successful in other areas beyond football."

Bob Johnson, an offensive center at Tennessee (1965-68) who won the Jacobs' Award as the nations' top lineman, got into business while playing for the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL, and is now president of Imperial Adhesive Company, a company he bought, then sold, but continues to run.

"We do $50 million a year in business," Johnson said. "We employ 235 people, and have 17 or 18 warehouses in several states. It's as fun as competing in athletics. It's with people, you've got a team, you're competing with other companies. I enjoy it.

"I was inducted into the GTE Academic Hall of Fame in 1989, along with some pretty good players — Fran Tarkenton, Carlos Alvarez. You looked around that room (of inductees), and you saw people who took pride in being well-rounded. People who are reasonably good students and athletes are among my favorite people. I think that goal should be everyone's goal — to be well rounded." Alvarez is a lawyer practicing environmental litigation in Tallahassee, Fla. He still holds SEC records for receiving yards gained in a season (1,329 in 1969) and yards per game (132.9 over 10 games in 1969).

"I'm one of those guys whose athletic career ended sooner than I thought it would, because of knee injuries," Alvarez said. "I set a whole bunch of records as a sophomore, and then my knees went out. I'm proof you can be on top of the world, then have it taken out from under you — at least, on the athletic side."

Although he was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys out of college, Alvarez knew his football career was over, and went to Duke law school instead.

"It was such a competitive environment," Alvarez said. "Athletes are competitive by nature, especially at the college level. I got to Duke and remember thinking, 'Gee, I've been playing football for four years, and all these people have been studying for this.' So I dedicated myself to study law like I'd prepared for football, and ended up in the top five percent of my freshman class."

"I think a lot of athletes underestimate their capabilities, and a lot of times, when you come off the practice field, the last thing you want to do is face a book for two or three more hours. It requires dedication. But I just had a love for learning."

Robert Khayatt turned that love for learning from five seasons as an NFL pro bowl placekicker with the Washington Redskins (1960-64) into running his alma mater — as Chancellor at the University of Mississippi.

"C.S. Lewis wrote a book called 'Surprised By Joy,' Khayatt said. "I was surprised by this. I came from Moss Point, Miss., and when I went to the university, it opened up the world to me."

"When I was a freshman, I was invited to join a group of students who went to an opera in Memphis. I was 18. I'd never been to Memphis — the big city. It was 1956. We saw 'La Boheme,' and I was stunned by the magnitude and majesty of that production. The lights just really got turned on for me. I realized there was a big world out there, and I wanted to be part of it, or at least know about it."

Football became his vehicle to that world, providing him with a college education that his family couldn't have afforded, then helping him pay for law school in the off-season with the Redskins.

"It was apparent to me from the day I arrived in the NFL that the life (in athletics) is finite. So I used athletics as a means to prepare myself for broader opportunities and the challenges I'd face after it ended."

Lyons interests were so broad that, while playing with the Broncos, he got the chance to guest conduct the Denver symphony orchestra and, later, the Colorado Philharmonic.

"I was always interested in a lot of different things," said Lyons, who, in addition to his other duties is also on the clinical faculty at Emory University. "I guess I couldn't get anything right, so I tried a lot of things.

Athletics have always been integral to what I did, but I don't think of athletics as real life. The lessons I learned in athletics I took on to what I call real life. We're all competitive. I was fortunate to be at Georgia at a time when we had guys on the team just ahead of me, like Billy Payne and Bob Etter, who'd done extraordinarily well academically as well as athletically. So a lot of it was an atmosphere that said if the guy in front of you was able to do it, you wanted to do it, too — and maybe a little better than he did."

Carr said the idea of just taking advantage of every opportunity he had was pounded into him at Auburn, during a very successful run on the field (1982-85) when the Tigers went 29-8, won an SEC title and played in the Citrus, Sugar and Liberty Bowls after not having gone to a bowl game in seven seasons.

"Auburn provided every opportunity for me," he said. "But one thing I learned under Coach (Pat) Dye was a work ethic and commitment. He instilled an attitude that if you worked hard enough ... well, he made us believe there was nothing we couldn't accomplish if we set our sites on it and worked hard enough.

"Football was not easy. Medical school was not easy. There are obstacles. But the drive and determination it takes to play football carries over to the other endeavor, too."

Alvarez was part of a gathering of GTE Academic Hall of Fame athletes in Los Angeles last year, an event celebrating the 10th anniversary of the GTE Academic All-America program.

"You sit there in a room of former athletes," Alvarez said. "The guy next to you might be a surgeon from the University of Washington.

On the other side, maybe a stockbroker — Howard Twilley of Oklahoma. It was fascinating. What you'd see was a cross section of university life — all the different disciplines you can go in to. Lawyers, doctors, engineers, politicians — a cross section of what universities should produce."

The gathering Johnson said he would most like to be part of is one bringing together all the Academic All-Americans of the SEC. "I'd love to see what all those guys have accomplished, to be able to talk about it," Johnson said. "I think that would be a group of people I'd really like to get to know."

It's the kind of gathering that could probably never happen, though, for one reason: they're too busy continuing to learn, looking for challenges, overcoming obstacles.

"It becomes part of your personality," Khayatt said. "You keep looking for perfection and striving for it. You realize you're not going to be perfect, but there is that inner force that pushes you to be better, be stronger, more alert, more productive.

"It's all those lessons learned in football. It sounds trite, I know. But it's true."

The evidence starts in 1954, and continues right on through today.

"You keep looking for perfection and striving for it. You realize you're not going to be perfect, but there is that inner force that pushes you..."
Robert Khayatt

Every autumn, the debate rages: Which is the premier football conference in the country? Obviously, there is no scientific instrument or fool-proof formula to gauge which league has the best athletes and smartest coaches. Nobody has yet figured out a way to measure the blood and sweat and heart and soul it takes to become the best of the best on the field.

But off the field and in the stands, there is no debate, no argument or no question. When it comes to who has the best fans, the most fans, the most loyal and most loud fans, look no further than the SEC.

In the world of college football fandom, the Southeastern Conference is the undisputed master of mania, the prince of passion. If this were a prize fight, other fans around the country would look across the ring at the fevered, furious fans of the SEC and simply throw up their hands in disgust and utter "No Mas!". All you have to do is look down yonder every Saturday at the bulging bleachers in The Swamp or Between the Hedges or Death Valley or Bryant-Denny or Neyland or Tiger Stadiums to realize how important SEC football is to the legions of fans who live and die by it. SEC football is a sensory overload of gaudy colors and shrill sounds. It demands to be seen, heard, felt, and tasted.

No other league in the country can boast the cast of colorful characters that regularly attend SEC football games. We're not talking regular, run-of-the-mill fans here, we're talking Superfans. They can outscreeam a speeding locomotive, leap tall coolers in a single bound, and they represent college football the way it was meant to be represented — by truth, honor and the SEC way.

What would SEC football be without fans like Florida's George Edmonson, the retired insurance salesman from Tampa who this season will celebrate the 50th anniversary of his alter ego — the beloved Mr. 2-Bits. Anybody who has ever attended a football game at Florida Field knows this spry 76-year-old World War II veteran who makes countless trips around the stadium, popping up unannounced in section after section as he leads 85,000 fans in their favorite cheer.

A few shrill bursts from his whistle and a wave of his cardboard 2-Bits sign alerts fans to his whereabouts. His trademark long sleeve yellow shirt, striped blue-and-white pants, orange-and-blue tie, yellow socks and black-and-white golf shoes make him easy to spot. And then, with his arms flailing wildly, like a chicken with a caffeine buzz, the stadium comes alive as Edmonson brings fans to their feet with 16 simple words:

*"2 Bits, 4 bits, 6 bits, a dollar,
All for the Gators, stand up and holler."*

"People ask me if I ever get tired of doing this," Edmonson says. "How can you get tired of rooting for the team you love?" The amazing part of this story is Edmonson never even attended the University of Florida. That's the thing about SEC football — every kid who ever grew up in Anniston, Ala., or Lookout Mountain, Tenn., or Yeehaw Junction, Fla., became a fan of college football long before the proliferation of professional sports hit the South. Today, the Sun Belt is littered with NBA, NFL, NHL and major league baseball franchises, but before all the relocations and expansions, there was SEC football. One thing the fans in Athens can always count on: The Georgia Bulldogs aren't moving to Tifton.

Edmonson actually attended The Citadel, but started coming to UF games in 1949 with friends from Tampa. Florida was 4-5-1 that season, and fans at Florida Field had gained a reputation for booing their own team. Edmonson was appalled and decided every time a UF player made a mistake, he would stand up and start cheering instead of booing. From there, the legend of Mr. 2-Bits was born and is stronger than ever a half-century later.

"To me, being a fan is about supporting your team through the good and bad times."

Edmonson says. "And that's what's great about the SEC. There are so many superfans out there — men and women who fill up the stadiums no matter what the record of their team is." Fans like Alabama's Jerry Bogle and Troy Ferguson — the twin twinkies who have gained national, even international acclaim as the "Roll Tide Guys." If you've ever seen a Crimson Tide game on TV — home or away — the camera unflinching pans the crowd and finds its way to Bogle and Ferguson. They are the good ol' boys wearing red trousers, matching red suspenders, wide red-and-white neckties and "elephant head" visors. They are the ones who came up with the ingenious invention of putting a Tide detergent box on a stick, topping it with a roll of toilet paper and waving the contraption while chanting, "Roll Tide!" "Everybody likes sitting around us because they know they're going to get on television," Bogle said. "There was one fella, though, who asked to have his seats moved because he didn't like the commotion that goes on around us. We do tend to get a bit boisterous." Boisterous? "OK," Bogle admitted and chuckled. "Some people might say we're obnoxious." But in a lovable sort of way. In fact, Bogle says fans throughout the conference traditionally welcome the Roll Tide Guys into their stadiums with open arms — and mouths.

"Everybody likes sitting around us
because they know they're going to get on television."

"Occasionally, somebody will tell us what we can do with our roll of toilet paper," Bogle said, "but it's all in good fun. That's what's great about SEC fans. There is a brotherhood among us. How many times have you heard fans all around the conference chant 'S-E-C!' You don't hear that sort of thing in other parts of the country."

Certainly, the SEC has an, uh, unique set of athletic supporters.

Where else in the country can you find a guy like LSU super-fan Chico Moore, a filling station owner in Baton Rouge who has been known to don a purple-and-gold tuxedo, a purple-and-gold wig and drive to games in one of his custom purple-and-gold limousines? You think his neighbor shudders every time Chico stands out in the driveway and asks, "Hey, Ralph, don't you think this old place could use a new coat of paint?" In the past, Chico has kept the limos parked in front of his gas station and even donates them free of charge for weddings, parades, birthday and bachelor parties. The only LSU game Moore has missed in the last 20 years was when his daughter was born. Of course, she grew up and became a student at LSU.

"I just think if you're going to be a fan, you should wear your school colors proudly," Moore said. "I've always been an avid LSU fan. I have so many great memories from so many great games. I can still remember when (LSU running back) Gary James scored the game-winning touchdown at Notre Dame. The field was covered with snow at the time. After the game, I went down and carefully pulled a piece of frozen turf that still had Gary's footprint as he crossed the goal-line. It's just a hunk of petrified mud now, but I still have it."

The SEC football has fans like the Roll

Tide Guys and Mr. 2-Bits and the ageless Chico who have been around for decades, but there is also a new wave of zany characters on the horizon. In Gainesville, the saga of Crazy Rich began four years ago in a pool of blood in New Orleans.

Somehow, Rich Benzing — then, a late-night deejay in Lake City, Fla., — was able to sneak down to floor level at the Superdome before the Gators were to run out on the field to begin their 1994 Sugar Bowl game with West Virginia. That's where he saw former Florida line-backer James Bates, one of the team's more wild and colorful players. Bates kid-dingly told Benzing if he wanted to excite the UF team, he should bang his head on a nearby pole. Benzing eagerly accepted the challenge, and moments later a crimson mass of blood was gushing from two gashes on his forehead. Benzing walked around in a daze the rest of the night with blood caked on his face and has been a cult hero to Gator players ever since. "I can live with a scar the rest of my life if I know I did my part for the team," Crazy Rich said.

SEC fans...they're crazy, they're wacky, they're nutty...they're the best. For every Crazy Rich, for every Mr. 2-Bits, for every Chico and Roll Tide Guy, there are thousands of others who are just as loud and just as loyal. There are fans who go to Alabama games now and root for "Coach" Mike Dubose just as they used to root for Mike Dubose, the player. There are sons who attended games with their dads in Gainesville and idolized Steve Spurrier, the player. Now, their sons idolize Steve Spurrier, the coach. SEC football, like a family heirloom, passes from generation to generation to generation.

The beauty of this whole phenomenon is that SEC football is not only a southern tradition, it is a national pastime. Take Bernie Allen, who grew up and lives in Lacrosse, Wis., but makes an annual pilgrimage south for the SEC Championship Game. Most every year, his cheesehead friends shake their heads in amazement, give him grief and ask Bernie, "Why?" Why are you traveling thousands of miles and spending hundreds of dollars to go to a college football game between two schools you never attended? And Bernie will just shrug and tell them, "I'm a college football fan, and there's nothing more exciting to me than SEC football."

Bernie became an Alabama fan as a kid in the early 1960s when his brother-in-law attended Alabama. He quickly began idolizing Crimson Tide greats like Joe Namath, Kenny Stabler, Johnny Musso, et al. "It's definitely been a long-distance love affair with Alabama ever since I was growing up," Allen said. "I'm still a fan of the Wisconsin Badgers, but Alabama is the other team I follow passionately. When I'm packing up and getting ready for the SEC

"I can live with a scar the rest of my life if I know I did my part for the team."

Championship Game, my friends up here tell me I'm crazy. Every year, I tell them the same thing, but they never quite understand. "They don't understand that there's nothing in the world like SEC football." Nothing.

Just ask Randy Barfield of Yuba City, Calif., who grew up in Roanoke, Ala., and still makes a cross-country trek at least once a year to watch his beloved Crimson Tide. His son was born five years ago and was named Bryant after a certain legendary coach. "I moved out to California when I was 18 to join the Navy, and I never found my way back to Alabama," Barfield says. "But I try to return at least once a year for a game. It's an excuse to have some beers with my buddies and celebrate the greatest sport in the world. I don't know what it is, it just seems like college football is so much more important in the south."

Just ask George Edmonson, who several years ago was offered a job by Hugh Culverhouse, the former owner of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. It seems Culverhouse wanted Edmonson to be an NFL free-agent version of Mr. 2-Bits. "Who knows, maybe I could have been another San Diego Chicken and made a lot of money," Edmonson says and chuckles. "But I couldn't bring myself to do it. Like I told Mr. Culverhouse back then, 'No, Hugh, what I do for the Gators is from the heart. If I were to do it for the Buccaneers, it would be from the pocketbook. And that's not what being a fan is about.'" Culverhouse, who grew up an Alabama fan, completely understood. He didn't even try to change Edmonson's mind. In the SEC, some things just aren't for sale. Not for two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar. Or a hundred dollars. Or even thousands.

Kind of makes you want to stand up and holler, doesn't it?

Gamecocks visit The Swamp for homecoming 6/20/98 - As if Florida didn't have enough going for it against South Carolina, now comes word that Nov. 14 is homecoming at The Swamp. "It's not the first time we've been someone's homecoming opponents," South Carolina athletic spokesman Kerry Tharp said. FULL STORY

When it comes to customer satisfaction, there is no finish line.

#1 In Local Residential Telephone Customer Satisfaction.

BellSouth never stops striving to make customer satisfaction the number one goal. So even though we've been ranked number one in customer satisfaction by J.D. Power and Associates for the second year in a row, we're not slowing down. In fact, we're just starting to hit our stride.

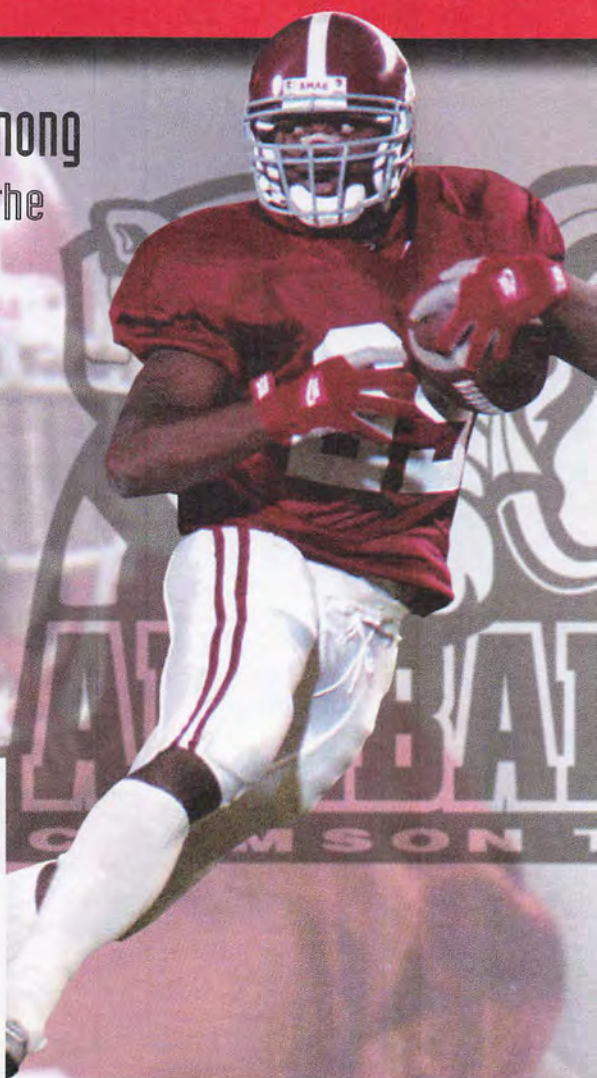

Alabama

Long a fixture among the top teams in the SEC, the Alabama Crimson Tide will look to rebound from its worst season since 1957. Coach Mike DuBose will rely on a mix of youth and experience in 1998 as he puts his mark on the Crimson Tide program. Look for the Crimson Tide to continue instilling a diversified offensive attack and rely on a defense that has made Alabama so successful in the past.

TRADITION

Alabama became associated with the "elephant" in 1930, when sports writer Everett Strupper of the Atlanta Journal reported on a fans exclamation "Hold your horses, the elephants are coming" as the eleven huge players rumbled onto the field.

If your answer to the cow's rather simple question is "no," you must proceed directly to a Chick-fil-A® restaurant. There you can order the world's first, and best, chicken sandwich, invented by Chick-fil-A over 35 years ago. The cows, and your stomach, will thank you.

Arkansas

The only first-year coach in the SEC

will be Arkansas' Houston Nutt. Considered one of the most innovative young offensive coaches in college football, Nutt will also have one of the most experienced squads to work with in the SEC. The Razorbacks return 20 starters, including 10 on offense and nine on defense.

This is the Taste!

An average of over nine wins each season, three bowl games, an SEC divisional title - that's been the five-year record of Terry Bowden at Auburn. With 15 starters returning in 1998, look for much of the same. The big challenge for the Tigers will be finding a replacement for multi-talented quarterback Dameyune Craig and stellar linebackers Takeo Spikes and Ricky Neal.

TRADITION

After any football win, fans gather in the center of town, Toomer's Corner, and "roll" anything and everything with toilet paper.

Florida

When finishing 10-2 and in the country's top five is considered a disappointment, you know your program has arrived. That's where Steve Spurrier and the Florida Gators are. 1998 should be as good, if not better, for the Gators with 16 returning starters including, perhaps, the best linebacking trio in college football - Johnny Rutledge, Jevon Kearse and Mike Peterson.

WHAT'S A FOOTBALL GAME WITHOUT A SACK?

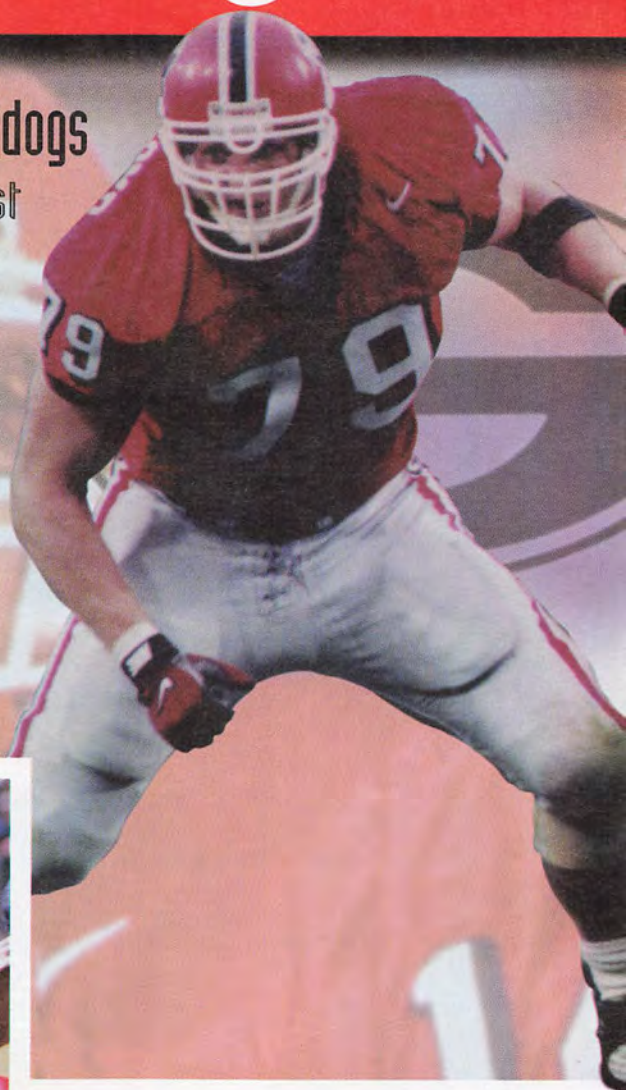

A PROUD SPONSOR OF THE SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

Georgia

The Georgia Bulldogs made the biggest jump in record of any SEC team from 1996 to 1997, improving four games. While many of the outstanding players from last year are gone, Coach Jim Donnan has laid the foundation for the future with an array of highly-regarded youngsters to go along with 10 returning starters.

To the sweat,
the soreness,
the tackles,
the touchdowns,
the discipline,
the teamwork,
the end zone,
the cheers, the glory.

As an athlete you know that injuries happen. It's all part of playing the game. That's why HEALTHSOUTH is dedicated to providing the highest quality, most cost-effective care available.

As the leading provider of diagnostic, surgery, inpatient and outpatient rehabilitation services, we know the body and understand your spirit.

We get you back.

Kentucky coach

Hal Mumme put

everyone on notice last season that the Wildcats would have an aerial attack not seen before in the SEC. He was right. The Wildcats rewrote the conference and school record books in 1997 and will likely continue that trend with quarterback Tim Couch and eight other returning starters on offense.

TRADITION

A new tradition started in 1997. In recognition of the team's Air Raid attack, an air raid siren blares over the stadium sound system while each player of the offensive or defensive unit is introduced.

Louisiana State LSU Tigers

When Gerry DiNardo was hired as head coach at LSU, he wanted to "bring the magic back to Tiger Stadium." After three straight winning seasons, three bowl victories and two straight Top 15 finishes, the "Magic" has definitely returned. With 17 returning starters, including all-everything RB Kevin Faulk, the Tigers are posed for another outstanding season in 1998.

TRADITION

Before each home game, the LSU band marches through campus and into Tiger Stadium. Then the team marches through the crowd into the north end zone.

Fresh off a Top 25 finish and bowl victory in 1997, the Ole Miss Rebels are ready to take the next step to prominence in the SEC. Coach Tommy Tuberville has 13 starters returning from last season and a bevy of young players like Rufus French, Deuce McAlister and Romaro Miller who are ready to replace standouts such as Stewart Patridge, John Avery and Broc Kreitz.

TRADITION

Two hours before kickoff, the team walks down the sidewalk that goes through The Grove, a 10-acre grassy plot shaded by oak trees at the center of campus. Fans fight for position on both sides of the sidewalk and greet the players with loud cheers.

Mississippi State

No team in the SEC went through as much adversity in 1997 as Mississippi State. Despite losing team leader Keffer McGee in a drowning accident before the season, the Bulldogs finished 7-4 and made believers of fans around the SEC. In 1998, coach Jackie Sherrill's troops are ready to contend for the Western Division title and a shot at the SEC title game.

TRADITION

Certainly the most resounding symbol of Mississippi State is the cowbell. Despite decades of attempts to banish it on gamedays, diehard State fans still cheer on the Dogs loudly and proudly with the distinctive sound of ringing cowbells.

Whatever your sport, being a winner takes relentless drive. Fanatical commitment.

And a world of energy. At Texaco, our game is supplying the energy that makes the world run better, faster, farther. That's why we push the limits of performance with our CleanSystem³ gasolines.

And just like the athletes we support, we're constantly pushing to get even better. Watch us run.

A WORLD OF ENERGY™

South Carolina

South Carolina comes into this season with 15 returning starters, including the multi-talented quarterback Anthony Wright, and a fleet of young receivers and running backs. Coach Brad Scott will use this talented nucleus of players to possibly put the Gamecocks in contention for a bowl bid in 1998.

TRADITION

As the crowd roars in anticipation, the theme from "2001 - A Space Odyssey" blares over the sound system. In coordination with the music, the Gamecocks hit the field. The "2001" theme corresponds with the University's 200th birthday in 2001.

Tennessee

The biggest question in the SEC in 1998

may be who'll fill the shoes of National Player of the Year Peyton Manning. For Coach Phillip Fulmer the answer lies in the throwing arm of junior Tee Martin. But don't think that Martin will have to shoulder the entire load for the Vol offense. National Freshman of the Year Jamal Lewis returns at running back to give Tennessee a potent offensive attack.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST SHOPPING MALL, CONVENIENTLY LOCATED BETWEEN TWO COVERS.

If you're like me, you're always looking for a better selection. And for me, it just doesn't get any better than The Real Yellow Pages® from BellSouth®. Filled with all the brands you know, shopping couldn't be any easier. Or quicker.

Because your fingers do the walking.

Not your feet. So you can make faster, smarter shopping decisions.

Now there's something you just might want to open up to.

Vanderbilt

The defense does not rest under coach Woody Widenhofer. The Commodores led the SEC in total defense in 1997 and must replace six starters from that unit, including All-America Jamie Duncan. Vandy does return three starters from the secondary, including leading returning tackler Ainsley Battles. The offense should be much improved too, with seven returning starters.

TRADITION

The name "Commodores" comes from university founder Cornelius Vanderbilt's interest in steamboats. The nautical theme continues with the sounding of a large ship's horn mounted on the pressbox at high points in the game.

SEC Championship

The 1998 SEC Champion will be crowned December 5 at the 71,500-seat Georgia Dome in Atlanta. The contest will feature the Eastern and Western Division Champions vying for the league's automatic bid to participate in the Bowl Championship Series (Fiesta, Sugar, Orange and Rose). ABC Sports will again televise the event nationally.

This year will be the seventh annual event. The previous six meetings have drawn capacity crowds that have witnessed heart-pounding finishes, breath-taking performances and super-human athletic talents. It has also produced two eventual national champions and an example that other Division I-A conferences have followed.

From its inaugural game in 1992 at Birmingham's Legion Field, to last season's contest at the Georgia Dome, the SEC Football Championship Game has been witnessed by sellout crowds and more than 156 million viewers.

DR. PEPPER SEC FANFARE

Fans of all ages can test their skills and meet the stars at the Dr. Pepper SEC FanFare — December 4-5 in Atlanta. Located in the Georgia World Congress Center, this fan-interactive theme park is just a short walk from the Georgia Dome.

Designed for fans of all ages, FanFare showcases every SEC sport through interactive games, displays, exhibits, video presentations and much more. This spectacular theme park covers more than 100,000 square feet of the Georgia World Congress Center.

SEC Championship History

Yet another SEC Championship Game went down to the wire in 1997, when Tennessee defeated Auburn, 30-29. Before a Georgia Dome Sporting Event record crowd of 74,896, the Vols came from a 20-7 second quarter deficit to defeat the Tigers on Peyton Manning's 73-yard TD pass to Marcus Nash early in the fourth quarter. A defensive struggle ensued and the Vols were off to the FedEx Orange Bowl to play for the Bowl Alliance National Championship while the Tigers returned to Atlanta to play in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The Vols got on the scoreboard first on a 40-yard TD pass from Manning to Peerless Price.

However, that was all the scoring Tennessee could muster until a Jeff Hall 27-yard field goal midway through the second quarter. In the meantime, Auburn accounted for 20 unanswered points, led by a 24-yard fumble return by Brad Ware and a 51-yard TD pass from Dameyune Craig to Tyrone Goodson.

AU's Jaret Holmes also hit two field goals. After the two teams traded touchdowns midway through the third quarter, Tennessee mounted its charge. Behind 27-17, UT scored on a 46-yard pass from Manning to Price.

On the PAT attempt, Auburn's Quinton Reese returned the blocked kick for a two-point conversion to pull the Vols to within six, 29-23. That set up the heroics on Nash's 73-yard TD reception from Manning and Hall's PAT that won the game for Tennessee. The game's MVP was UT quarterback Peyton Manning, who completed 25 of 43 passes for 373 yards with four TDs and two interceptions.

A sellout crowd of 74,132 witnessed an offensive explosion in the fifth annual SEC Championship Game, with Eastern Division champion Florida downing Western Division champion Alabama, 45-30. The Gators, went on to the Nokia Sugar Bowl, defeating Florida State, 52-20, and claiming their first national championship. Quarterback Danny Wuerffel, the game's Most Valuable Player, threw for an SEC Championship Game record 401 yards and six touchdowns against a Crimson Tide defense that was ranked sixth in the nation in total defense coming into the contest. Wuerffel's favorite target was wide receiver Reidel Anthony, who caught 11 aerials for 171 yards and three touchdowns - all three numbers were game records. Alabama got on the scoreboard first with a 36-yard touchdown pass from Freddie Kitchens to Dennis Riddle.

The Gators went on to score 24 straight points in building up a 24-14 halftime lead. In the third quarter, the two teams traded touchdowns, including two long scoring plays.

With 4:06 left in the third quarter, Kitchens hit receiver Michael Vaughn with a 94-yard strike, the longest play from scrimmage in SEC Championship Game history.

Within a minute (57 seconds to be exact), Wuerffel retaliated for the Gators, hitting Jacquez Green with a 85-yard touchdown pass. Florida added a touchdown in the fourth quarter to put the game out of reach. The SEC's fifth title game attracted a television audience of 25.8 million viewers, ABC's broadcast earned a 7.0 rating. The average rating of the SEC Championship Game in its five years has been 8.5 with over 138 million viewers.

A prime-time (ABC) television audience and a sell-out crowd (71,325) in the Georgia Dome witnessed Eastern Division Champion Florida defeat Western Division Champion Arkansas, 34-3, in the fourth annual SEC Championship Game. The Gators, who went through the regular season undefeated, continued its dominance on this night.

Florida outgained the Razorbacks, 396-299, and committed no turnovers, while forcing Arkansas into four giveaways. Arkansas got on the scoreboard first when Todd Latourette kicked a 36-yard field goal with 7:26 left in the first quarter.

The Razorbacks were dealt some bad news on that drive. Sophomore running back Madre Hill, who finished third in the conference in rushing, was lost for the game with a knee injury. The Gators took the ensuing kickoff and went 80 yards in seven plays, capped off when game MVP Danny Wuerffel connected with Chris Doering on a 22-yard touchdown pass.

Florida would never look back. Leading 24-3 in the third quarter, the Gator defense got into the act. Florida nickelbacker Ben Hanks took an errant fumble and ran the pigskin back 95 yards for a touchdown.

The SEC's fourth title game attracted a television audience of over 25 million viewers. ABC's broadcast earned a 7.2 rating.

Atlanta was the site of the 1994 SEC Football Championship, as a Georgia Dome record 74,751 watched Eastern Division Champion Florida capture its second straight conference crown with a 24-23 victory over Western Division Champion Alabama. The Gators effectively moved the ball through the air, as Danny Wuerffel connected on 23 of 41 passes for 227 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

But at the conclusion of the hard-fought contest, it was Florida defensive standout Ellis Johnson who distinguished himself as the game's most valuable player. The rugged senior recorded five tackles, one pass breakup and an SEC Championship record three tackles behind the line of scrimmage, including two quarterback sacks. Trailing 17-10 at the half, Alabama regained the lead, 23-17, with two third-quarter field goals and an interception return for a touchdown with less than nine minutes to play.

Florida responded with an 80-yard, 10-play drive which ended with a two-yard touchdown pass from Wuerffel to Chris Doering with just 5:29 remaining in the fourth quarter.

The extra point by Judd Davis secured the winning margin, as the Gator defense forced an interception on the final Alabama drive.

The SEC's third title game attracted a television audience of more than 30 million viewers. ABC's broadcast earned a 10.5 rating, marking the network's most-watched college football game since the 1991 season.

1993, with Eastern Division Champion Florida defeating Western Division winner Alabama, 28-13, in front of a crowd of 76,345 at Birmingham's Legion Field. The Gators were led by quarterback Terry Dean, who passed for 256 yards and two touchdowns en route to Championship Game Most Valuable Player honors. After virtually three quarters of neck-and-neck football, and the Gators leading by one, 14-13, Florida was faced with a fourth-and-eight situation.

Punter Shayne Edge kept the drive alive with a 20-yard spring, and on the next play, Dean hit wideout Jack Jackson with a 43-yard strike to give Florida an eight-point cushion.

From there, the Florida defense held its ground and the Gators secured the victory. The victory secured Florida as the host of the USF&G Sugar Bowl.

On Jan. 1, 1994, the eight-ranked Gators defeated West Virginia, 41-7, in New Orleans to win their first Sugar Bowl title.

The Southeastern Conference etched its mark in the college football history books on Dec. 5, 1992. The league became the first in Division I-A to stage a championship game between its two division winners. Western Division Champion Alabama and Eastern Division Co-Champion Florida provided plenty of fireworks as the Crimson Tide posted a 28-21 victory before a capacity crowd of 83,091 at Legion Field in Birmingham. The game, which was televised nationally by ABC Sports and earned a 9.8 rating, was not decided until the final minutes.

With the Gators facing first-and-10 at their own 21, Alabama cornerback Antonio Langham returned an interception 27 yards for the game-winning score.

The play, which came with just 3:16 remaining, earned Langham Most Valuable Player honors and thwarted the debut of a tie-breaking system in Division I-A football.

The victory secured Alabama the role of host at the USF&G Sugar Bowl.

On Jan. 1, 1993, the second-ranked Crimson Tide handed No. 1 Miami a 34-13 defeat to capture the SEC's 12th national crown.

Bowl Championship Series

Starting with the 1998 college football bowl season, the Bowl Championship Series (BCS) will determine the National Championship.

The BCS will consist of the Rose Bowl, Nokia Sugar Bowl, FedEx Orange Bowl and the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. The conferences with automatic berths include the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 and Southeastern Conferences. The BCS differs from the original Bowl Alliance in that it will guarantee a matchup between college football's top two teams in a true national championship game. Any champion of the Western Athletic Conference, Conference USA or any other Division I-A Conference, which is ranked sixth or higher in the BCS standings, or any Division I-A independent team will be eligible for the Bowl Championship Series. Otherwise, any Division I-A team can qualify for selection in the BCS if they meet one of the following requirements:

- ◆ Has won at least 8 college football games during the most recently concluded regular season excluding victories in exempted games.
- ◆ Is ranked among the Top 12 teams in the BCS final regular season standings.
- ◆ Is ranked no lower in the final BCS regular season standings than the lowest-ranked team selected by a Bowl from the Conference Champions with automatic selection.

At the conclusion of the 1998 regular season, the Fiesta Bowl will host the National Championship contest. The game will be played on Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. ET in Tempe, Ariz. The Fiesta Bowl shall select the top two teams ranked in the BCS final regular season standings.

The BCS will also mark the return of regional consideration regarding team selection. Specifically, as a member of the BCS, the Rose Bowl will host the Big Ten and Pac-10 champions in those years in which either the Rose Bowl does not have the national championship game or the Big Ten and Pac-10 champion is not ranked No. 1 or No. 2. Other regional consideration tie-ins include the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl, the ACC or Big East champion in the Orange Bowl and the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl. Other BCS bowl games at the conclusion of the 1998 season include the Orange Bowl (Jan. 2, 8 p.m. ET), the Sugar Bowl (Jan. 1, 8:30 p.m. ET) and the Rose Bowl (Jan. 1, 5 p.m. ET). ABC-TV has the broadcast rights to each of the four bowl games during the four-year contract.

SEC on Television

The Southeastern Conference has agreements with five television networks to broadcast SEC Football during the 1998 season.

CBS will televise 12 games per year through the 2000 season, 10 of which involve two SEC teams. Earlier this year, the SEC and CBS agreed on an extension of the contract through the 2008 season.

The SEC Championship Game will be televised by ABC through the 2000 season. ABC has been the SEC Championship Game rights holder since the game's inception in 1992. Kickoff for the 1998 event is 8 p.m. ET.

The league's national cable package will be featured on ESPN through 2000. ESPN/ESPN2 may televise 12-16 regular season games each year.

Jefferson-Pilot Sports will continue its highly successful SEC Football Game of the Week package through 2000. The Charlotte, N.C. company holds the rights to televise 13 games annually throughout the nine-state SEC region on a syndicated basis.

During its five seasons of airing SEC football, JP Sports has averaged nearly three million viewers per game through its network of 55 stations. Bob Kesling will serve as play-by-play commentator while Dave Rowe will again provide expert analysis.

SEC Football will be featured on FOX Sports South throughout the 1998 season. The SEC's regional cable television partner will broadcast two games live during September. FOX Sports South, along with regional cable partners FOX Sports Southwest and Sunshine Network, will also preview upcoming conference action on SEC-TV Weekly, every Saturday morning at 10 a.m. ET.
